Executive Summary

This property presents critical legal risks. The primary document, the sale deed, is missing or invalid, making it impossible to verify the current owner's title or past transactions. Furthermore, all government records provided are explicitly marked as 'MOCK DATA', rendering them unreliable for any real due diligence. A mismatch in Khata number and the agricultural classification add further layers of concern. No reliable assessment of ownership or encumbrances can be made at this stage.

Red Flags

- Missing/Invalid Sale Deed Document: The uploaded 'sale_deed' document is not a valid sale deed. The OCR text provided is from an insurance notice, and no relevant property details could be extracted. A valid and readable sale deed is fundamental to verify the current owner's title, confirm previous transactions, check for any specific conditions or encumbrances, and establish the complete chain of ownership. Without it, the ownership claim cannot be properly substantiated.
- Unverified Government Records (MOCK DATA): The provided government records are explicitly labeled as 'MOCK DATA - Real government API integration pending'. This renders all information extracted from these records (owner details, mutation, encumbrances, litigation, CERSAI status) unreliable for a real property transaction. Any conclusions drawn from this 'mock' data cannot be considered definitive or legally binding for due diligence.

Yellow Flags

- Khata Number Mismatch: The Khata No provided in the input (5432) does not match the Khata No ('KH-123-2024') found in the (mock) government records. This discrepancy needs to be clarified and reconciled to ensure that all records pertain to the identical property.

- Agricultural Land Classification: The land is classified as 'Agricultural (Bagayat)'. If the buyer intends to use the property for non-agricultural purposes (e.g., residential, commercial), a Change of Land Use (CLU) or conversion order from the competent authority will be required. This process involves additional costs, approvals, and may be subject to specific conditions and restrictions under Karnataka land laws.

Green Flags

- Mutation Record Exists (based on mock data): The mock government records indicate a mutation entry (MUT-2020-1234) dated 2020-01-15 for a sale transaction from 'Previous Owner' to 'Current Owner'. This suggests a recorded transfer of ownership, if the data were real and verifiable.
- No Recorded Encumbrances (based on mock data): The mock government records indicate no encumbrances and the CERSAI check shows 'No mortgages registered'. This is a positive indicator for clear title, if the data were real and verifiable.
- No Pending Litigation (based on mock data): The mock government records indicate no pending litigation, which is favorable for a clean title, if the data were real and verifiable.
